

LEADING FROM THE HEART

June 2026

After the sudden passing of their daughter, Mackenzie and Ian Sandler received an overwhelming amount of support, both moral and financial. With that support, they decided to honor their daughter, Riley, by championing the values she held dear: friendship, kindness, creativity, and joy in meeting and connecting people.

The Riley's Way Foundation invests in and supports the next generation of kind leaders. It achieves its mission by working with emerging leaders between the ages 13 and 23 who are leading social impact projects in areas such as food insecurity, homelessness, education equity, and environmental justice — all through the lens of kindness, empathy, and connection.

“We provide young people with the programs, support, and inclusive community they need to thrive as changemakers. Riley's Way is committed to supporting these young leaders to build a better world that values kindness, empathy, connection, and the voices of all youth.

We envision a future where kind leaders build a better world.”

Riley's Way is just one example of the kind of organization benefitting from investments in the SPARKSM share class of BNY's Dreyfus Government Cash Management fund.

We believe our clients want to make a difference, and many are actively looking for more than just a financial return on their investments. Simply put: they want to do good.

Partnering with BNY through the SPARK Share program has allowed us to deepen our investment in the next generation of kind leaders. This kind of innovative philanthropy means more young people receive the support, community, and resources they need to create meaningful change in the world.”

How do we make this possible?

3 Simple Steps

Clients invest in the BNY Dreyfus Government Cash Management SPARK share class

Clients choose the eligible non-profit organization¹ to receive a donation

We make an annual donation based on the client's average balance²

SPARK shares are only available to our institutional clients, but we believe in giving investors the opportunity to do good, and we're excited to announce the launch of SPARK Future shares, which allows eligible retail investors to purchase shares via a financial intermediary.

Our objective is to help our clients make their money work harder (and go farther) by positively impacting their communities. SPARK Future shares enables eligible retail clients to access institutional cash management expertise while creating and aligning with philanthropic goals and making a quantifiable impact.
